Let's focus on the partners!

Don't you still know who makes Ruralization possible? Ruralization is composed by 18 partners from 12 countries around Europe: Netherlands, France, Germany, Spain, Poland, United Kingdom, Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Spain and Austria.

Ruralization is a Horizon 2020 project, funded by the EU with the grant no 817642. It started running in October 2019. Through its four-year programme, Ruralization tackles the challenge of rural population decline and seeks to identify opportunities for rural regeneration that exist or might turn into potentials. It is a European project that tries to link together the efforts of like-minded organisations and networks from diverse countries and regions, driven by the common focus on rural development.

Ruralization is composed by 18 partners from 12 countries around Europe: Netherlands, France, Germany, Spain, Poland, United Kingdom, Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Spain and Austria.

The project's assessment instruments and strategies that can inform well-grounded, relevant and effective rural regeneration. RURALIZATION will select contexts and case studies will be studied. Throughout RURALIZATION, different regional perspective for new generations in EU rural areas, offering stimulating opportunities for economic development.

On January 9, 2020, representatives of the RURALIZATION project attended a coordination meeting of a group of Horizon 2020 projects nanced under RUR1 and RUR2. This meeting included the Board as well as the EC Policy Ocer Alexia Rouby, from the DG Agriculture and Rural Development.

The meeting brought together representatives from the Rural NEET's Youth Network NEWBIE Project and other Horizon 2020 projects. We were able to present our project and discuss the role of rural development in the future of young people and the need for youth to stay in rural areas. The meeting also provided an opportunity to discuss and plan our further activities and start exchanging experiences and presentations of various projects of interest with common objectives: DESIRA, POLIRURAL and other initiatives.

Gender is a cross-cutting topic of the RURALIZATION project, which aims to harvest potential of a group of Horizon 2020 projects nanced under RUR1 and RUR2. This meeting included the Board as well as the EC Policy Ocer Alexia Rouby, from the DG Agriculture and Rural Development.

Our project is to develop a model of comprehension for the problem of rural depopulation, with a special focus on young people and new entrepreneurs in the agricultural sector...

The challenge of rural population decline and need for rural communities to become more competitive and attractive is generally recognized to be a European priority, and this is the focus of the Ruralization project. The project will examine the potential for rural regeneration in different contexts and identify promising opportunities for rural development that can be shared with the wider community.

Our project is to develop a model of comprehension for the problem of rural depopulation, with a special focus on young people and new entrepreneurs in the agricultural sector...

The project aims to promote rural development through the development of new models of managing rural issues across economic, social, cultural and environmental domains. NUI Galway Rural Studies is a third level education and research cluster based within the University of Galway.

The opening of rural areas to new generation development, together with the revitalization of rural areas, is a European project that tries to link together the efforts of like-minded organisations and networks from diverse countries and regions, driven by the common focus on rural development.

Ruralization is composed by 18 partners from 12 countries around Europe: Netherlands, France, Germany, Spain, Poland, United Kingdom, Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Spain and Austria.

The project's assessment instruments and strategies that can inform well-grounded, relevant and effective rural regeneration. RURALIZATION will select contexts and case studies will be studied. Throughout RURALIZATION, different regional perspective for new generations in EU rural areas, offering stimulating opportunities for economic development.

Ruralization is composed by 18 partners from 12 countries around Europe: Netherlands, France, Germany, Spain, Poland, United Kingdom, Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Spain and Austria.

Our project is to develop a model of comprehension for the problem of rural depopulation, with a special focus on young people and new entrepreneurs in the agricultural sector...

The challenge of rural population decline and need for rural communities to become more competitive and attractive is generally recognized to be a European priority, and this is the focus of the Ruralization project. The project will examine the potential for rural regeneration in different contexts and identify promising opportunities for rural development that can be shared with the wider community.

Our project is to develop a model of comprehension for the problem of rural depopulation, with a special focus on young people and new entrepreneurs in the agricultural sector...

The challenge of rural population decline and need for rural communities to become more competitive and attractive is generally recognized to be a European priority, and this is the focus of the Ruralization project. The project will examine the potential for rural regeneration in different contexts and identify promising opportunities for rural development that can be shared with the wider community.